THE SHOW

History

The Show was started in 2001 in conjunction with the Denver Nuggets to honor the top 40 student-athletes in basketball at the end of the season in an all-star game. In 2016, it was taken over by Biokats Sports Network to continue the tradition. Alumni from The show include:

- Rodney Billups – University of Denver, College Coach
- Reggie Jackson – Boston College, Detroit Pistons
- Derek White – University of Colorado, San Antonio Spurs
- Calais Campbell – University of Miami, Arizona Cardinals
- Nick Fazekas – University of Nevada, Boston Celtics
- Abby Waner – Duke University, USA Basketball
- Evan Unrau – University of Missouri, Washington Mystics
- Michaela Onyenwere – UCLA, Chicago Sky

How are players selected

The players for The Show are selected by the media in the state of Colorado that cover preps athletics. Each media member submits his/her nominations and then select the Top 20 players for each game from the final nominations list.

In 2017, The 1A-3A Top 20 game was introduced

In 2018, The Top 40 and Top Senior Game was introduced

In 2019, The Junior Show was brought back
